EDITORIAL: FÁTIMA -THE THIRD SECRET.

As FSR readers will have noticed, the Vatican has recently released what was described as the last part of the "Third Secret of Fátima", and consequently all of the message that remained to be given.

Far be it from me to suggest that His Holiness has just said anything that was not completely true. Assuredly he would never lie. It is highly likely -indeed one might assert that it is totally certain- that, given the bloody truths and record of Marxism/Leninism/Stalinism (more than one hundred million victims murdered in the world by Communism since1917), what could conceivably be more likely and more logical than that the all-seeing Satanic Power would endeavour to liquidate this dangerous and troublesome Polish Pope who had suffered under both Fascism and Communism, and who had seen too much and had seen too deeply and too clearly?

So an assassination attempt was certain, and you can bet your boots that any information given at Fátima in 1917 -just on the very eve of that Revolution- would have contained anything as simple and elementary, indeed one might say as totally trivial, as that!

Trivial, I say, in comparison with the utterly shattering news which constituted the principal purpose for the Fátima message. So you can take it as certain that what was put out recently was not the most important part of the message at all!

That important part of the message referred to the coming great flood -the repetition of "the days of Noah"!

In fact the Pope had long ago divulged the gist of it - it looks almost as though inadvertently, accidentally, or by a slip of the tongue, in May/April 1981, to a small group of German journalists who tackled him when he was coming out from a conference at Fulda, in Germany, and asked him why the Third Part had not been divulged in 1960 as had originally been promised?

The Pope told them exactly why, and I translated and published the full text of his statement, five years ago, on pages 5 and 6 of FSR 40/2 (1995).

So far as I know, not a soul anywhere in the world took any notice of my article. Certainly nobody, so far as I can ascertain, has ever written to me or contacted me or written to FSR about it, or discussed it or displayed the slightest interest in the subject. And what, I ask you, could be more normal than that! G.C.■

I. THE AIDS-ET CONNECTION HYPOTHESIS.
© BY DR. PHILLIP S. DUKE, Ph.D.

A NEW, UNIQUE SCIENTIFIC CONCEPT.

The AIDS-ET Connection Hypothesis is a new, unifying scientific concept which explains diverse phenomena relating to HIV/AIDS and Ufology in terms of each other.

A hypothesis is the least well established stage of scientific knowledge, serving primarily as a guideline concept for further study and investigation. All scientific hypotheses must agree with and explain the known facts logically, and as simply as possible.

Anyone in possession of information or desiring to communicate regarding this subject, is invited to contact the author.

Evidence supporting the AIDS-ET Connection Hypothesis is taken from the literatures concerning HIV/AIDS and Ufology. Evidence is published in a book titled The AIDS-ET Connection.

ORIGIN AND NATURE OF HIV/AIDS.

Infection with Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) eventually results in the disease Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS). AIDS is a brand new, entirely different, lethal human disease; nothing even remotely like it was known before 1979.

HIV replicates in and attacks cells of the human immune system, eventually allowing opportunistic infections which terminate in death (1 - 5). AIDS patients presenting with multiple opportunistic infections are considerably more difficult to treat than situations of disease due to infection by a single organism (3, 4).

For a previously unknown (because previously non-existent or harmless) virus to suddenly arise and cause major lethal pandemics, is contrary to all medical and natural experience (1).

There is excellent evidence that HIV infection was initiated on two different, widely separated continents, Africa and North America, at very close to the same time, in two different strains (1,2). The time frame of origination is reliably believed to be between 1910 and 1950 (see references 8 and 9).

The African strain is infective heterosexually, the American strain is infective homosexually (1- 3). Both strains are readily infective by blood transfer.

The origination of these two different viral strains, in two distant locations, at the same time, in two differently susceptible human populations, is entirely contrary to how natural infectious disease works (1,2).

HIV is a retrovirus, necessarily employing the enzyme RNA transcriptase in its replication. RNA transcriptase is notoriously prone to transcription errors, resulting in numerous viral mutations (sudden marked genetic changes) (4). Viral mutations can be expected to select for properties favouring viral survival, such as drug resistance and increased infectivity (4,5).

HIV replicates in and destroys primarily certain cells of the immune system, thereby weakening it over time. Eventually the weakened immune system allows multiple opportunistic infections (1,4).

Until opportunistic infections appear, only laboratory tests reveal infection with HIV during this asymptomatic period. Again, HIV infection can be determined only by laboratory testing, which commonly detects antibodies to the virus (5,6).

HIV's unusually long asymptomatic period averages roughly about 10 years; during this time the infected person may be quite unaware of the fact he/she is infected, and possibly spreading the infection.

When a pregnant woman is HIV infected, her infant is commonly infected during pregnancy and/or during passage through the birth canal, or by breast feeding. Effective treatment before and after birth can be helpful. An HIV infected untreated infant's death by AIDS usually occurs within a few years of birth. (1,2,3)

HIV's sexual spread promotes infection and death among people of the most active age range - in America AIDS is now the most common cause of death for males aged 25 to 44 (5).

It has been said that HIV is the ideal agent of mass human destruction; it is an ideal Biological Warfare (BW) agent, in that it cannot be improved upon (6). If it were more infectious and rapidly lethal, like Ebola, infected persons would be readily identified and quarantined. Then its spread would be effectively halted (2).

With HIV however the spread continues unabated, simply because people don't know (and may not want to know) they have it, and are spreading it to people who don't know they are being infected. Some people may know they are spreading it but don't care (3).

In nature there is always some type of balance between parasitic organism and host. A parasite that kills all its hosts also perishes. No such balance exists between HIV and humans.

The body's major defence against viral infection is the immune system. HIV specifically attacks the immune system, the body's only defence against it.

Then, since HIV attacks the only defence against it, there is no natural defence against HIV (1 - 4), as there is with every other organism. HIV acts contrary to nature. I suggest this is because it originated outside nature.

The official view of HIV origination is that it came from non-human primates, infected with Simian Immuno-deficiency Viruses (SIVs), which somehow became HIV and infected humans (2).

The evidence all contradicts this. SIVs are genetically very different from HIV. They do not cause Simian AIDS - if they did, there would be few if any Simians left. Attempts to infect Simians with HIV and produce AIDS have all failed.

HIV is a new, unique virus, causing a new, unique lethal human disease, AIDS. There is no logical connection in any way between HIV and SIV (6). The idea that HIV originated from SIV is quite scientifically incorrect; it is maintained only due to its political correctness.

Consider these facts. This concept requires that Simians in Africa and North America transmitted two different viral strains, to two differently susceptible human populations, at the same time.

The two different viral strains would have had to originate in the Simians, be promptly transferred to humans (because the virus does not last long outside host cells) and then vanish, because HIV has never been found in Simians.

In addition, numerous attempts to substantiate this concept by infecting Simians including chimpanzees with HIV had all failed. When introduced into Simians HIV always dies; it cannot replicate in this (foreign) host. There is no way HIV could have originated from SIV. Nature simply does not work this way. It never has and it never will.

FALSE CONCEPT THAT HUMANS CREATED AND SPREAD HIV.

The foregoing facts have resulted in concepts whereby HIV was created and spread by humans. Then HIV was supposedly created by human Biolgical Warfare research science, and spread either accidentally or purposefully by medical procedures such as innoculation and vaccination (1,7).

All such concepts fail due to the fact that HIV originated at a date when human science was quite incapable of creating it.

According to the work of Wolinsky et al (8), HIV originated around 1950. According to the very recent and supposedly even more exacting work of geneticist Dr. B. Korber (9), the date is more likely around 1930. Human science was quite incapable of creating HIV anywhere around these early dates.

For example: The key enzyme Reverse Transcriptase, detection of which made possible the discovery that HIV was a retrovirus, was discovered in 1970; retroviruses were first discovered in humans in 1978; and the Polymerase chain reaction, central to retroviral research, was discovered in 1983 (10).

It was quite impossible for human science to create HIV around 1950 or earlier, because the essential research and development tools were quite unknown then. The concept that HIV was originated initially by human activity, is contradicted by the scientifically established time frame of HIV's origin.

In addition, even if it were possible, what human being or human organisation would purposefully develop and unleash the infectious lethal virus HIV, which threatens to destroy human civilization and possibly even our species? The concepts of HIV's origination in simians, or by human science, are invalidated and must therefore be discarded.

CATTLE MUTILATIONS, HUMAN ABDUCTIONS AND HIV.

Information supporting HIV's purposeful ET origination comes from reports of cattle mutilations and human abductions. Authentic cattle mutilations occur without any nearby animal tracks or evidence of human activity.

There is very little bleeding because all the blood has been removed prior to mutilation. Laser-like extremely even cuts are found to have removed certain body parts (11,12,). Parts removed are those which in humans are possible sites of HIV transmission (13). I suggest these are taken for study; the left ear is probably taken to retrieve a locator implant.

Cattle blood is genetically relatively similar to human blood (14), and in theory might be a medium for HIV replication.

The concept that cattle mutilations are related to HIV logically and simply explains everything concerning these otherwise incomprehensible phenomena. There is no other logical explanation.

The politically correct idea that animal predators are involved, is readily excluded by the laser-like cuts, absence of blood, absence of tracks, predator avoidance of the carcass, the fact that mutilated parts taken are not good to eat, etc.

And also by the unusual circumstances of death, which in one well documented case was probably due to the homogenized heart inside an intact pericardial membrane (15).

A biocidal light blue gel containing formaldehyde was found on the body cuts and at the formerly pregnant dead cow's rear end. I suggested the biocidal blue gel's main function was to protect the new born calf during its passage through the birth canal (the calf could not be found and is presumed abducted).

A similar light blue gel has been reported in connection with preservation of a dead ET alien body, and treatment of abductee vaginal infections (Reference 6 p. 28). The scientific explanation for cattle mutilations involves UFOs and HIV (16). There is no other logical, simple explanation.

Authentic human abductions by the extra-terrestrial aliens termed "Greys" involve transports to secure locations, followed by medical-type physical examinations which are centred around AIDS.

The major organ systems examined for disease in a routine human physical, such as the heart, digestive tract, liver, lungs, kidneys, nervous system, etc. are given little attention. Instead, there is examination for lymphadenopathy (swollen lymph nodes characteristic of AIDS) in the neck, armpits and groin.

The mouth and eyes are examined (possible opportunistic infections and sites of infection) as is the rectum (possible site of infection). Samples are taken of blood and reproductive materials (but not of urine) (16,17).

I suggest the evidence shows clearly that people are abducted by ET alien Greys to harvest reproductive materials (17), monitor for HIV/AIDs status (18), apply and service implants (19), and obtain information (20).

There is a case documented in writing where an abductee tested HIV positive until his implant was surgically removed, after which he tested and continues to test HIV negative. The implant was hollow and secreted something... (21).

Reasonably assuming the implant was of ET origin (19), this shows a clear connection between ETs and HIV. I emphasise- the concept that cattle mutilation and human abduction phenomena are related to HIV readily, simply and logically explains the known facts concerning both, including facts that are otherwise incomprehensible.

For example, the ubiquitous anal corings of cattle mutilations, and the common mechanical anal probings of male abductees, are readily explained by the fact that this body region is an important site of HIV transmission.

ET ALIEN GREYS AND HIV.

When all the foregoing is put together, one arrives at the logical conclusion that the ET alien Greys very probably created and initially spread HIV.

The history of humanity shows that when two human societies met, the more technologically advanced societies destroyed the others. How many American Indians are left in America? How many aborigines in Australia? Hawaiians in Hawaii?

I suggest there is only one real form of cosmic wealth, and that is cosmic real estate in the form of a world rich in life — like ours.

When enough people are sick, dying and dead from AIDS, human civilization will collapse, eliminating any opportunity of organized, meaningful resistance, including the possibility of atomic retaliation, which would make the planet uninhabitable.

Then, assuming the AIDS-ET Connection Hypothesis is correct, alien colonization will begin. Meanwhile, the authorities maintain that UFOs and ET aliens do not exist. And HIV continues to spread rapidly.

The present situation is not stable. About 300,000 new cases of HIV infection occur daily. About 110,000,000 people are presently infected worldwide (22). The spread of HIV infection is believed exponential (1).

No one knows just how many people are HIV infected, because there is no central reporting agency, and everything works to diminish the reported number.

If one makes the reasonable assumption that every person with HIV infects just one additional person a year, then within 10 years the calculated number infected exceeds the world's population (23).

Even if a generally effective preventive vaccine is developed then, it will be too late. The answer is prevention now.

WHAT NEEDS TO BE DONE?

I recommend mandatory testing for HIV with central reporting, increased education, and identification without prejudice of all HIV positive persons.

In addition I suggest the use of protective measures, such as condoms, during all non-procreative sexual relations. These measures will save many millions of human lives. They should be employed.

The public needs and is entitled to know the truth about UFOs and ET aliens. There is no longer any reason to suppress the facts. There is good reason to reveal the truth. UFOs are alien spacecraft, and they and their occupants are here among us. Let the truth about their existence and activities be known.

If you desire medical assistance consult a physician without delay. May God Almighty see fit to spare us from the dreadful plague of HIV/AIDS. Good luck!

II. NOTE BY THE EDITOR OF FSR.

What I am completely sure nobody anywhere in the world now knows or remembers -or cares about- is that, many years ago, I had already arrived at the same conclusions as Dr Phillip Duke, and that, in support of my stance, I had "gone out on a limb" and published a similar warning article on the subject of AIDS -and in fact that was so long as eleven years ago- in FSR Volume 14/1 (March 1989).

Not a soul, not a reader, nor a single UFO researcher or doctor or scientist, or any journal or publication anywhere in the world, paid the slightest attention to the article or has ever communicated with me or spoken to me about or commented on it in any fashion or form. (Did not old Gurdjieff, in all his teachings, constantly tell us that 95% of the humans are in a permanent state of "sleep"!)

All that did happen was that in due course Britain's leading expert on UFOs, or supporters thereof, let it be known that, in his or her opinion, the author of the piece, Mr B. W. L., did not exist anyway, and that the article was a mischief-making concoction by me.

I wrote and informed Mr B. W. L. that he did not exist. However, I am happy to be able to add that he is still alive, and that I have now been able to put him and Dr Duke in touch with each other. I now reproduce his article below, along with my own introductory remarks of 1989:-

AIDS. -Reprinted from FSR Volume 34, No. 1 (March 1989).

Long ago I came to a whole lot of conclusions about the true significance of the "UFO Phenomenon" which it might not be prudent to voice. Subsequent events and revelations have only reinforced this feeling, and in a recent letter from a British reader who works in the Defence field (see pages 17/18 of FSR 31/4, Food For Thought) certain important possibilities were hinted at.

The contribution from our Californian subscriber, the artist B. W. L. , which I reproduce below, will be found to be in line with that same trend of thought, and I suggest that it deserves careful study, although I must add that since I received it I have begun to see an entirely different possible explanation than the one adopted by the writer, and one that is maybe slightly less ominous for mankind as a whole. I must also add that I would never have considered publishing this article had it not come to me with a personal reference from one of FSR's most respected U.S. Consultants.

So far as one can learn, it seems that the "official" view about the origin of AIDS is that the disease has suddenly emerged from Central Africa, after lying unknown there for who knows how long, and has then passed into the U.S.A. and Western Europe on a large scale probably via Haiti -at least as some have suggested.

Well, it is of course true that, after a century of exploration and research, there still remains much to be discovered in the heart of the Dark Continent in all spheres, including the medical. Nevertheless, I find it incomprehensible that so many Western doctors and nurses who have worked in Africa so extensively would not have come upon any trace of it earlier, and, frankly, I rather doubt the "African Explanation", though I admit that it is a very 'handy' one. And I am not entirely convinced that our own Governments believe in it.

Alternatively, might it not in fact have been a particularly clever ruse on somebody's part to eleborate the disease elsewhere, and then to implant it in the highly suitable field of Central Africa and let it burst upon the world as a new "African" disease?

As regards the theory that it was launched in order to wipe us out, I don't quite "buy" it at present, because, surely, so many far, far easier methods could have been found by anybody desirous of eliminating us.

Far more probable, in my view, would be the explanation that, since there are Alien Powers of an intermediate level -who are probably our Owners and would clearly regard us as herds to be exploited, or as biological-banks or gene-pools, then they would of course (like any sensible farmer or herdsman) be concerned to keep their cattle normal and healthy and disease-free, and would therefore take effective steps to eliminate any undesirable taints likely to impair the quality or quantity of the genetic material available, and particularly so should they themselves depend in some way on the latter for some part of their own well-being! - EDITOR.

AIDS . . . AND THE UFO CONNECTION: A POSSIBLE PLAN FOR GENOCIDE? BY B.- W.- L.- (California)

-Reprinted from FSR 34/1 (March 1989)

"Intellects, vast, cool and unsympathetic, regarded our Earth with envious eyes and slowly but surely they drew their plans against us." -* H.G. Wells, "THE WAR OF THE WORLDS" (1898).

Less than 100 nm in diameter, AIDS viruses converging on a white blood cell.

By way of introduction, may I state that I am a concerned citizen who happens to be an artist and a printer. Over the years I have built up an extensive knowledge on the subject of UFOs, reading books and articles by such authors as Frank Edwards, Gordon Creighton, John G. Fuller, Jim and Coral Lorenzen, Ralph and Judy Blum, and many other private investigators.

The gravity of the AIDS crisis makes it imperative that we consider all possibilities as to its origin .. even if the evidence is vaguely circumstantial. If we are to find a cure for this "ANDROMEDA STRAIN" -then finding its origin could give our scientists the edge they need.

What I may have discovered is a "connection" between AIDS and the animal mutilations of the 1970s. For it strikes me as a little more than coincidental that the nature of the mutilations has a parallel with the way in which AIDS is transmitted.

We humans have short attention-spans. Thus, when events are separated by large gaps in time, we have diffculty in visualizing what in this case could be a deadly scenario.

Are we being victimized by hostile alien forces? Before you answer 'No!', consider these facts:-

THE FACTS.

During the 1970s the world experienced a bizarre and gruesome phenomenon commonly known as "animal mutilations". In the United States alone, some 10,000 cattle were butchered with such surgical precision that our veterinarians were stunned and baffled by the method used. The mutilations stretched from Oregon to Tennessee . . . one-third of the extent of the Continental United States.

1. All slaughtered cattle were drained of blood.
a. AIDS is a blood disease.

2. Many cows had their reproductive organs removed.
a. AIDS is transmitted hy sexual contact.

3. In many cases the entire anal canal was removed.
a. AIDS first began to manifest in the "gay" community, and involved the peculiarly absorbtive properties of the anal canal with which so many of the "gays" are so preoccupied. (5) Other organs taken were eyeballs, tongues, heads, and large patches of epidermis.

4. The animal mutilations started in 1972 -and diminished in 1978.
a. The AIDS syndrome began in 1977. . . amounting to the five year incubation-period! (1972-1977.)

All of these surface details were widely published and are easily verifiable. The mutilations were investigated at the highest levels. At one point the F.B.I. became involved, but nothing was reported to be resolved, the problem becoming a colossal embarrassment to the authorities. They simply hoped that it would go away.

The ranchers, for their part, knew that something alien was descending on their cattle. They watched large glowing lights in the night sky . . . then smaller lights descending to do their dirty work, as the coming of day would reveal.

Looking at the nature of the mutilations, one could surmise that aliens were engaged in massive research into various ways of spreading the virus through human contact.

Mark Feinberg of Stanford University says: "AIDS is unlike any disease that is prevented by vaccination. It attacks the very antibody-producing machinery that a vaccine is supposed to stimulate." And he says further: "AIDS has mutant strains, an ever-changing genetic structure. It's like trying to hit a moving target" (NEWSWEEK, November 24, 1986.)

LOGISTICS.

If an invading armada wanted to decimate the human population, there would be no need to transport massive war equipment across the depths of Space. There would be no need for blazing ray-guns or neutron bombs. A deadly genetic virus would do the job rather well, and leave the environment intact.

The mutilations did happen, and the reasons for them were never given or explained by anyone. I submit that, if we continue on our present course of blind complacency and indifference in regard to UFO activity, there may be little salvation for the human population.

It is my hope that those who are in authority will reopen the mutilation investigation and, in this new light, look for other clues that might put our scientists on the path to a solution.

In my firm opinion, AIDS was designed and calculated to invade the blood, lie dormant for a long period, so as to be passed on to others, and finally kill the host. While we are preoccupied with fighting one another over issues of territory, race, and religion, we may ALL be victimized, AND POSSIBLY FOR JUST THOSE REASONS.

Are we to learn nothing from the ranks of those with vision?

III. U.S. GOVERNMENT'S RECENT WARNING ON AIDS.

On April 30, 2000, U.S. newspapers carried the following statement from the Washington Post about the current world situation concerning AIDS, and warning of serious future developments:-

National Security Threat Seen In HIV/AIDS Spread Overseas.

Washington - Convinced that the global spread of AIDS is reaching catastrophic dimensions, the Clinton Administration has formally designated it a threat to U.S. national security...national Security Advisor Leon Fuerth acknowledged that the (doubled) budget request of $254 million provides "resources inadequate for the task."

Fuerth also stated that "The number of persons who are dying, the impact on elites- like the army, the educated people, the teachers- is quite severe. In the end it's a kind of slow motion destruction of everything..."(in Africa).

A new White House interagency task force has been created to drive international efforts. Task force co-chairman Sandra Thurman stated, "the thing that's most staggering, that people are just beginning to grasp, is that Africa is the tip of the iceberg," And, "we are just at the beginning of a pandemic the likes of which we have not seen in this century, and in the end will probably never have seen in history."

FURTHER COMMENT FROM DR PHILLIP DUKE.

For years I have been trying to alert people concerning the coming world-wide AIDS cataclysms. But I have been only a voice in the wilderness, unheard, unheeded and much criticized. I have no funding, and except for FSR and Paranoia magazine, no publication except for my self-published book The AIDS-ET Connection.

My book predicts the coming cataclysms, and presents scientific evidence concerning their true origin and nature. Both the scientific and UFO communities have refused to review my book, with the result that it is little known.

Based on reasonable assumptions published in my book, when probable present rates of HIV infection are conservatively projected forward, by about 2010 A.D.the majority of the world population will be infected with lethal HIVs.

Then by roughly 2020 A.D. so many people will be ill with AIDS, that by about roughly 2025 it will be all over. Human civilization will collapse country by country due to lack of manpower, and as intended all chance of organized, meaningful (atomic) retaliation will be lost.

These figures may err, but then, if it takes a few years longer, what difference does that make in the long run? None, because what really matters to the originators of HIV is the final end result.

My research indicates purposeful origin of HIVs and their pandemics. HIV is the ideal Biological Warfare agent of mass human destruction, and it is in process of doing the job it was made for, which is to kill enough people so that eventually human civilization will collapse.

Meanwhile the authorities have continued to maintain HIV/AIDS is just another pandemic of natural origin, and the (overseas and domestic) situations are both no threat.

The above article in the Washington Post emphasizes HIV/AIDS created problems in Africa, and also mentions that the "(African) disastrous course could be repeated, perhaps exceeded, in south Asia and the former Soviet Union."

Nothing is said about China and India, our two most populous nations, where HIV is spreading like wildfire. Nothing about any other countries. And absolutely nothing about HIV/AIDS in North, Central and South America. It's as if the problem does not exist here in the Americas, including North America. But only "overseas."

It is a step in the right direction that the Clinton administration recognizes that HIV/AIDS is an overseas national security threat.

Now if they would only recognize that it is also a domestic national security threat, we might begin to get somewhere.

As it is, the efforts described are far too little, too late, essentially useless. As long as the authorities refuse to acknowledge the true origin of HIV/AIDS, and its true purpose, as revealed by my research, nothing meaningful will be accomplished in the long run.

From now on it will become harder and harder for the authorities everywhere to maintain that HIV/AIDS is under control. It is NOT under control.

Horrendous HIV/AIDS cataclysms are in process of developing in every country. Unless the meaningful preventive actions described in my book are taken before it is too late, they will occur in every country.

Take steps to prevent being infected. Protect yourself. Find out if you are infected. If you are don't infect others. Good luck! -Phillip Duke.■

IV. -THE STATISTICS OF AIDS INFECTION.

[I have been doing my own researches. The following information comes from the very informative and sobering website at http://www.amnh.org -Philip Creighton.]

More than 14 million people have died of AIDS.

35 million are now living with AIDS, and this figure is increasing at a staggering rate. That is one in every 100 adults around the world, ages 15 to 49, is infected with this disease.

Worldwide, five people between the ages of 10 and 24 are infected with HIV every minute. Well, there are 60 x 24 = 1440, minutes in a day, so that makes 7,200 new infections per day -and 2.63 million per year...

The greatest growth in AIDS cases is expected in densely populated countries of South Asia, Africa and India.

Women, children and adolescents are the most rapidly growing segments of the population becoming infected with HIV.

Combination drug therapy costs an average of $10,000 to $15,000 per patient per year, -quite unaffordable in the developing world.

"NO KIDDING THIS TIME. MY FLYING SAUCERS PHOTO IS GENUINE!" * (-Alec Birch.)
BY GORDON CREIGHTON.

(*Headline of a report in the highly respected British newspaper Yorkshire Post of March 5, 1999, by journalist Eileen Brooks).

On page 4 of FSR Vol. 8, No. 5 (1962), we mentioned a report (SCHOOLBOY SNAPS SAUCERS) describing how a fourteen-year-old-lad, Alec Birch, had, on March 4, 1962, been sitting with two young friends in the back-garden of his home at 12, Moor Crescent, Mosborough, Sheffield, in southern Yorkshire, playing with his old Brownie 127 box camera and taking snapshots of his dog, when he suddenly noticed dark silent objects hovering in the sky near by and promptly aimed his Brownie and photographed them.

The pictures, one of which was to become famous, known and reproduced all around the world, were not developed for some weeks. But when they were developed one of them showed a total of five dark craft, two of them complete with the familiar "domed saucer" shape, while the other three appeared to be in what seemed to be various stages of "incompleteness". (It is well known that many UFO photos have shown curious distortion, and a popular theory has been that this effect might be due to the hazy magnetic field around the UFO itself. But there is of course another possible cause, of a most surprising nature, about which many folk are starting to speculate today - but would never have done so back in 1962!)

Of the two other boys who were in the garden with Alec, at least one, David Brownlow, is known to have given precisely the same account of the five flying objects seen by him as Alec has done.

The photograph was inspected by the Science teaching staff of Alec's school, Westfield Comprehensive, and Alec and David Brownlow were called in to explain their story to Mr. Colin Brook, the head of the English Department.

Both boys gave him precisely the same detailed account of the five mysterious dark silent objects seen briefly hovering in the sky and then vanishing suddenly.

The photograph was next taken to Kodak, whose experts pronounced it to be genuine in their opinion. It is known that the British Air Ministry and the Pentagon received copies of it and conducted enquiries into the affair.

The photograph appeared in newspapers and magazines and television programmes around the world and the boy Alec spoke at several UFO study conferences. And finally the picture became accepted generally as one of the most convincing pieces of evidence for UFOs ever seen in Britain during the 1960s.

Alec and his father were called to London and grilled rather unpleasantly by officials of the British Air Ministry in Whitehall, and subsequently they told FSR that quite plainly the main preoccupation of the Air Ministry officials was to get both of them bundled rapidly out of London and back to Yorkshire before the journalists could discover their presence in the city. (See my marginal notes on page 4 of FSR's bound office set of FSR Vol. 8, No.5 , 1962.)

Although I have no proof of this, it seems pretty likely that Birch Senior and his son were also invited to visit Buckingham Palace to discuss their case with either the Duke of Edinburgh himself or with his Equerry.

Mr Alec Birch, aged 50 in 2000.

INVESTIGATIONS BY THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH.

This is because we do know that, as early as 1955, the year in which FSR was launched, the Duke of Edinburgh had requested the Air Ministry to send him a copy of every UFO report that they received (see article in the Sunday Express newspaper in summer of 1955 and FSR's account of the matter, on page 8 of our third issue - FSR Vol. 1. No. 3 (July/August 1955!).

RAF Air Marshall Sir Peter Horsley, who served for some years as Equerry first to Princess Elizabeth and later to the Duke of Edinburgh and then likewise to both of them after her coronation, has recently issued his highly interesting Memoirs (SOUNDS FROM ANOTHER ROOM: MEMORIES OF PLANES, PRINCES AND THE PARANORMAL, pub. By Leo Cooper, London 1997, hardback £21.95, ISBN 0-85052-581-0) and I would urge FSR readers to get it if they can. It may prove difficult to secure, because it was probably in a rather small edition.

Leo Cooper is a quite small publisher who has normally concentrated solely on military and regimental books, and one can suspect that, once he had brought this one out, there was instant "pressure" on him to refrain from further reprints. (Naturally this "pressure" would not have come from H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh. I know that he has distributed copies of the book to his friends.)

In general there seems to have been a resolutely pursued campaign of silence about the book - as was only to be expected! - both in Britain and abroad. I doubt, for example, whether any American or overseas readers have ever heard of it. I managed to have a copy of it placed in my local public library, but they carefully tucked it away in the "Biography" section and when I asked for it to be moved and placed on their shelf of UFO books, they refused. (One can see very clearly that there may have been a general edict passed around that this book "would do less damage" if kept off the UFO shelves.)

If there were ever any reviews of the book in the British newspapers, I certainly have seen or heard of none.

One reason why Air Marshal Sir Peter Horsley's book might have been regarded by certain folk as gravely "damaging" is the fact that it has one entire chapter (pages 172 - 202) entitled "VISITORS", in which the author describes his own great interest and his actual involvement in UFO research. This is what he says (page 172):

"My own interest was aroused because many reports came from airmen like myself, and it was only natural that on long journeys the subject of Space travel should be a topic for discussion. As always, Prince Philip's mind was open to the immense possibilities of new technology leading to Space exploration, while at the same time not discounting that, just as we were on the fringe of breaking out into Space, so other older civilizations in the Universe might have already done so. Prince Philip agreed that I could investigate the most credible reports provided that I kept it all in perspective and did not involve his office in any kind of publicity or sponsorship."

The chapter contains quite a full account of Horsley's dealings with the Air Ministry and the RAF and with various officials by name, describes quite a number of very important UFO cases that he investigated, and reported on to the Duke (including the famous case of Captain Howard of the BOAC who, when crossing the Atlantic and approaching Gander, saw, as did his crew and many of his passengers, the huge UFO "possibly as big as the Queen Mary", with its little discs flying in and out and around it.) And he also describes the visit by the two boys, Stephen Darbyshire and Adrian Myer, who, on March 28, 1966, had seen and photographed a craft absolutely identical with the much ridiculed Adamski "scout ship", hovering close to the ground on the slopes of Coniston Old Man in Lancashire.

Stephen Darbyshire's father accompanied the two boys to the Palace and Air Marshall Sir Peter Horsley asked the most famous photographic expert in London, Wallace Heaton, to examine the boys' negatives. Wallace Heaton's report reads as follows:

"Yes - they could have been faked, but they are so good that it would have cost quite a sum of money on props etc. Who then would have put up the money, and was there a wider conspiracy?"

Desmond Leslie and George Adamski were among many other people invited to Buckingham Palace to meet Sir Peter Horsley (and - who knows? - maybe even the Duke himself) and tell of their UFO experiences

ENCOUNTER WITH AN ALIEN!

Finally, even more "damaging", no doubt, in the eyes of certain folk, is the rest of this chapter in Sir Peter Horsley's book, for he goes on to relate (pages 180- 198) an astonishing meeting which he says he had, in a house in Chelsea, with an alien, completely human in appearance and with the most profound and impressive intellect and grasp of the Cosmos, who expressed the strongest desire to meet his Royal Highness Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh!

(Quite understandably we are not told whether or not any such meeting between the Duke and an alien ever took place.) If it did, you can be quite sure that neither you nor I nor anyone else would ever hear about it.) One needs only to point to the pretty strong indications that President Eisenhower of the United States, and also other American Presidents, may indeed also have had actual meetings with aliens. The carping critics who sneer and assure us that such things cannot ever have happened do not really have a leg to stand on. Such encounters might have constantly been taking place, throughout all the known history of Homo Sapiens (As he somewhat rashly calls himself).

ALEC BIRCH CONFESSES - 'HOAX'.

I return now to the story of Alec Birch, for we are not yet done with him. About ten years after he had taken his famous photograph, that is to say when he was about 24 years old, he suddenly called a press conference, and announced that the photo had simply been a "cut-and-paste" fake, a mere schoolboy prank, which had then snowballed and got out of control. He explained that he and his chums had "cut out the shapes of flying saucers and then pasted them on to glass and thus produced the picture which had fooled the experts."

This "confession" may have had little if any effect on the serious UFO research fraternity throughout the world, but it impressed FSR's then editor, Charles Bowen, who fully accepted it. See his article, Hoaxer confesses after 10 years, in FSR 18/6 (Nov/Dec 1972).

ALEC BIRCH FINALLY "RECANTS".

Since then, the years have rolled on, and now, suddenly, on March 5, 1999, 37 years later, we find the highly regarded British newspaper THE YORKSHIRE POST carrying an article by Eileen Brooks describing how she has just interviewed Mr. Alec Birch, now aged 50, who states flatly that he has changed his mind and is now revealing that the fake had been his confession, not the photograph. And this too should not surprise us in the slightest.

Here is Alec Birch's explanation:

"People think I made a fortune out of the photo. I have heard estimates of £500,000! In fact I made practically nothing, but I did become internationally famous. But with the fame came a lot of misery. I faced a lot of ridicule and pressure. So I decided to claim that it was a fake in the hope that it would all go away and the pressure would be taken off me.

"But it didn't work out like that! The UFO fraternity refused to believe me, and they even called a conference in London and came to the conclusion that my change of story was due to the pressure. The reason I've decided to let the real story be known now is because I think it is important that the public should know.

"The Roswell Museum in New Mexico want the old Brownie camera to put on display, because they believe the picture was genuine. I still have it (the camera) and it's become an old friend, and I have not made my mind up yet about parting with it. But it seems that one black and white picture taken in a garden all those years ago will be having an impact on our lives for a long time to come."

As the reporter Eileen Brooks concludes: "THE TRUTH IS OUT THERE". It has of course been extremely important over the past half century to combat the effect of such "dangerous" photos as these by Alec Birch and Steven Pratt, and by George Adamski too, arch-villain of them all, and we can be sure that great amounts of energy and money have gone into the campaigns of ridicule and denigration.

There have been plenty of other cases of "coercion" or "induced confession", and I may compile a note on some of them in due course.

Much has also been done to try to destroy the authenticity of the other famous schoolboy's UFO photo, the Darbyshire one of 1954, but so far as we know, never with any success, and Stephen Darbyshire never issued a "confession" and still asserts that his photo was totally authentic.

Long ago (see FSR Vol 9, No. 5 (Sept/Oct 1963) and Vol 11, No. 4 (July/Aug, 1965), we published the professional orthographic drawings by the well known British draughtsman Leonard Cramp, which show, beyond any doubt, that in shape and dimensions the UFO in the Darbyshire photo is identical with the much-maligned "scout-ship" of poor George Adamski. (I have been present with prominent photographic experts from USA and Britain who were totally unable to agree as to whether the latter was "a hospital operating theatre lamp", a "chicken-incubator", or a "beer-cooler"!)■

Thank you to our readers and website viewers for all your e-mail, which we do our best to answer appropriately; and also to those who have requested links to our website, and that we visit and take cognizance of theirs. It all takes a little time...

RESEARCHING "NORDIC-TYPE" ALIEN EXPERIENCER CASES. © BY DON WORLEY (Indiana, USA), FSR CONSULTANT.

(1051 Beech Street, Connersville, IN 47331, USA.)

What can we learn from these kinds of cases? What do they reveal about the moral orientation of these entities who are such a vital element in the alien presence. Can they be Angels or can they be just cunning deceivers? Members of opposing groups? All one vast centrally directed conglomeration? These questions are of the upmost gravity for our human species.

For the last 35 years I have specialised, for the most part, in alien human abduction and the Nordic-type aliens. My conclusions will be based on 45 of my cases where the Nordics were involved. In my 71 other cases the Nordics may have been involved but the information was not forthcoming. My conclusions are also based on other cases that I have heard about elsewhere. Due to space limitations I can highlight only important features in the nine cases that I have chosen.

At this point I will describe a Nordic, and this description will apply to all the abductees in the cases I will discuss. These beautiful, tall, entities with angular faces, usually have long blond hair, and breath-taking, unfathomable blue eyes. This is not an absolute, for the eyes can change with emotion. Giant-sized and human-sized Nordics also exist. Females and a rare child have been seen. The beings wear skin-tight garments or beautiful white robes. Their telepathic communications are soothing and they project an intense feeling of love for the abductee. Some persons have remained in a euphoric state for weeks afterward. Let's now look at the cases I have chosen.

Case #144, Virginia State, USA.

Roberto, a successful aeronautical parts dealer, once kidded his lifetime Nordic mentor, whom he calls Thor, about why he, a dark-skinned, dark-haired Brazilian, also has such bright blue eyes. The entity has intense blue eyes, a predominant feature of the Nordics. So much of this "blue eyes business" makes me wonder about gene manipulation.

As a baby Roberto* often played with little rust-coloured beings on the farm in Brazil. Once in the USA it became an assortment of the Grey types, whom he disliked. At the age of 17 Thor appeared, and would always be present along with a beautiful red-headed woman for the rest of Roberto's life. For years Roberto never had a clue about what was happening and sought to escape by moving often.

Once he was taken to a subterranean place, along with over 50 other persons, and shown scenes of massive wave destruction. On another occasion I got him to ask Thor just when all this was going to happen. The reply was, "Only the Creator knows the time." Sometimes in his life when Roberto is fearful Thor will come into his mind and reassure him that all is well.

Roberto has had so many periods of lost time that he has lost count. His underclothing is often on wrong, and he has three used shirts in which he has come back and which were never his. Recently his penis suffered minor damage, and a black limo began to park on his quiet street. This was all too much for his wife, and she destroyed his answers to my questionnaire.

Case #99. James Gilliand, The Bridgehouse, 356 Little Mountain Road, Trout Lake, WA. 98650, USA.

Jim has established a retreat in the scenic splendor of Washington State near Mount Adams. He remembers two abductions, and is a frequent channelling source for his Nordic mentor named Cazekiel. A week ago a film company in Studio City, California, called me wanting some good abductee prospects for a show they will produce.

Jim is one of the eight persons that I proposed for them. He called me on March 16th of this year and informed me that things have really got busy at his site. The alien craft have become quite bold, performing aerial manoeuvres overhead and hovering close. These events were witnessed by groups of people, and some good photos have been obtained. The Hollywood company wants to get a film crew to the site. Knowing how things have been on other film events, I hope the aeroforms don't now become shy!

Jim says, "I have been working with the Nordic race which in truth comes from Orion and the Pleiades. It comes with the territory when you awaken spiritually. Many people believe themselves to be working with 'Angelic Guides' or 'Ascended Masters', when in truth it is with these spiritually and technologically advanced beings. Most of my work is done with the Andromedans as they are known throughout the Universe. They have magnetized bodies of light, are beautiful, and stand eight feet tall. My contacts with these groups have been a blessing. The Greys give me a headache, and I push them out of my conciousness. There are others who seem Nordic but do not have Earth's highest and best good in mind. They are remnants of the Jehovah energy, but they are being turned around or removed by higher forces."

Case #110. Rural State of Missouri, USA.

Diane* has had a lifetime of alien activity. Here is her description of one meeting with a Nordic. "As I lay listening to grandma's TV in the front room, a very tall being appeared at the foot of my elevated bed. He was a male, had long blond hair, and wore a long white gown tied at the waist. I don't remember the features of his face except that I thought he was beautiful. He also had white wings on his back that went from the top of his head to his feet. As he started to fade I asked him his name. He said his name was Michael the Archangel. I didn't know then what an angel was. I ran to grandma and told her but she thought I was dreaming."

"I am very tense as I try to describe a later meeting, in my life, with a Nordic. With the Greys, it's pretty cut-and dried — routine, I guess. The Nordic experiences seem to be more of a psychological test, and emotions are high. I never know when he is going to enter my life or what the stage setting will be. In every meeting with him I am made to feel emotions of the highest intensity that a human can feel, whether fear, love, hate etc. This time it was love for him, and a sexual desire that went beyond anything on earth. I am purposefully blocking out a lot of it, for I now feel sadness and much guilt. I cheated on my husband. It is difficult to explain the sex that I had with the Nordic, for it seemed to be "other-dimensional". I was at his place, and I remember the outside walls were glass. The sex far far beyond anything we can do on this earth plane. The orgasms were constant, fast, furious, and savage. I remember looking up once at his beautiful face. God! I could have consumed him!"

One time, at a family picnic, Diane was sent to get the salt they had left in the house. When she returned, the feast was long since over; no one noticed their saltless meal or the over two hours of missing time.

On another occasion a fairy circle remained in the yard after Diane had been taken. She and the other kids walked in the circle and thought the "tingly" feeling in their legs was great fun. This reminds me of case No. #116, just next door in Rush County, last week. The abductee walked in the 18ft. circle and then entered the house. The ceiling-light immediately blew to smithereens.

Case #53. Ontario, Canada.

Penny has a degree in Philosophy. For years she wondered about her strange life, and then things began to fall into place. Her interactions with both the serene Nordics and several types of Greys are very extensive. The Greys were fast-moving workers. The blond Nordics seem to be aloof supervisors, who could speak English, but chose not to. Penny's son and daughter were also involved in some of this with the two types, and closer bonding came about. One little Grey sat on Penny's lap, for it wanted to learn about human affection and cuddling. On one occasion,in an altered state, Penny found herself in a sexual union with one special Nordic. Penny was also shown scenes of coming destruction that had vivid geographic details. Having no knowlege of such things, she was unnerved by it all. She was also told that the Nordics and others like her would be present at the dimensional place to help the millions of souls displaced by these coming Earth changes.

Case #89. Western Canada.

The most high Reverend occupies a position near the top of a large religious group that extends over parts of Canada and the northern European countries. (Their sacred tenets are similar to those of the Amish.) His lifetime of interaction with those who he calles the "non-terraneans" is mind-boggling. Many of his brethren know of the Nordics too. As a child he sat in the lap of his mentor whom he calls "Gold". Gold's eyes have a golden sheen. The Reverend has been naked alongside one who was also naked and he was — um, coupled to this one.

On one momentous daylight occasion at one of their religious ceremonies in a remote fastness "Gold" and some of his buddies materialized, partook of the bread and wine, and then vanished in "wavy air" just as they had arrived. This was seen by several hundred people and by a pack of animals. Throughout his life the "Reverend" has suffered damage in his groin region from abduction, but, all in all, his Nordic friends (who chose him when a baby in Europe) have kept a protective watch over him. He has a number of university degrees and is a brilliant man.

I spent most of three summer months several years ago documenting his case. The "Reverend" insists that the Nordics do breathe, and do have a bathroom. When they were not sucking fluids out of him with tubes he says he has been to their bathroom. He describes it as "like an Asian toilet with suction to it."

Case #91. New Hampshire State, USA.

Cheryl's* nocturnal life with the blonds started when she was very young. She thought they were her "other-time family". Both the Nordics and the Greys have told her that she is really "them in human form". She is also acquainted with slightly shorter beings who look like Nordics, with the same aura and strange eye colours, but dark-headed. There is nothing like so much closeness with them, and they work more with the Greys. Two names come up often when she is talking to other abductees about the Nordics. These are the names "Malanie and Christance", and she wonders why. Like the "Reverend" she has been in a toilet during abduction. Without knowing what the "Reverend" has said, she also describes it as "like an Asian toilet,"

She has also been shown scenes of coming destruction. The upper East Coast of the USA will almost be beach front right up to the White Mountains, in Maine (44 degrees 15N, 71 15W, GC.)

But this does not mean that it will be trashed forever like the western USA coast. The farther down the east coast you go the worse the changes will be. Across the Atlantic, a large part of Europe will be changed. The UK will become much larger, and the Mediterranean will be only a puddle.

Case #31. Kansas State,USA.

For Donna Butts it all began on her parents' farm in Kansas. On a hot evening in July 1950, at 2.10 a.m., brilliant light bathed the farm in a fluorescent glow. UFOs were present. Soon a glowing human-like figure appeared from behind the barn, and told Donna's mother that in one year she would have a child that would be what he called a "prepared child". In November of 1980 a gigantic glowing UFO abducted Donna off route 170 in Kansas.

It was in 1984 that Donna began to see "the walking wonder" near the laundromat she visited. He was gorgeous, with aquiline features, sky-blue eyes, silver-blond hair and a body any man would envy. He looked about 50 or 60 years old and drove a beautiful Rolls-Royce. He began to call Donna, and finally she got the name "Peter Lee Koney" from him. Filming and recording attempts failed. The mysterious stranger was right about that. When he was up to a block away from her Donna would get cold chills. Then came the day when he appeared as a sparkling white figure in a uniform, right in her front room. He looked solid enough, but she and others present could see through him before he faded away. Donna had suspected him of being some kind of a "nut". but now she knew that he had to be from some place other than Earth. Thoroughly dismayed, she spent the afternoon shaking and smoking cigarettes.

"Peter" had urged her to receive his teachings and now she was ready to listen. In the next abduction she was taken to a huge awesome "throne-room" in a huge craft. With "Peter" in the lead, a number of things happened to her, including being given a light treatment, drinking a hauntingly beautiful blue liquid and getting an implant through the ear. Later Donna was privileged to see many things and learn much. Her predictions as told to her by her benefactors are many. She says, "We can look at the Bible with the understanding of advanced intelligence. It has been termed a coded message unable to be understood until the last days. These are most assuredly THE last days."

Case #40. Colorado State, USA.

I want to mention this case that I carry in my records under the name of "Horse"* because of a remarkable thing that happened to this abductee. It is clear that this woman, who has a Law degree, is being looked after by the Nordics whom she experienced and of whom she can make such beautiful drawings. This happened when, on her horse, she was on a dangerous mountain trail. The horse failed to make a crucial turn, and stepped off the cliff-edge into space. The next thing she remembered was being back on the trail. When finally at the bottom she said, "Wow! I could have sworn that she stepped off the cliff!" The other two riders sat there staring open-mouthed at her. All three had positively seen the horse step off the cliff.

Before I finish my assessment of all this I want to add mention of a case that beloved researcher Karla Turner, now deceased, exchanged with me. This happened in my own home State of Indiana on a farm near Floyd's Knob in the summer of 1954. A brilliant light-beam came through the ceiling of Nell's bedroom and in it stood a blond-headed, blue-eyed figure in a resplendent robe. Taking Nell by the hand he said, "Do not be afraid my child. These are mine." He indicated the little Greys standing around the room. He then said, "I am the light of the world." The shaft of light returned and he rose through the ceiling with it. Nell and her sister went up next. During the time that the child was in the UFO she managed to ask the glorious figure an important question. She asked, "Are you an angel?" The entity replied, "Yes, but not like you have been taught."

The next day a staff car, a jeep, an instrument van, and a loaded troop-carrier descended on the farm. The house, land, and inhabitants were thoroughly scrutinised. White-coated doctors gave Nell a shot that brought forth the secrets of her mind.

Are the Nordics "angels"? Let's hope we don't become lost in a maze of conflicting implications on this question.

1. In cases 114,99,110,53, 89,91, 31, and 40 we have the Nordics in their mentor-protector role. All these people in these cases enjoy good lives, except for Penny, who has a liver disease that may take her out in less than 10 years. Of course all have had to endure the trials of criminal abduction. Even so I'll count this sort of protective benevolence as a point in their favour as "angels"

And, on second thoughts, since the Nordics could be engaged in some kind of human-species DNA saving action due to their frequent predictions of monstrous comings, maybe the term "criiminal" ought not to be used to describe their abduction activities.

2. The association of the Nordics with all the unsavoury alien crowd does not help their image as "angels." I won't list all the cases.

3. In cases 110,53, and 89 we have the human/Nordic sex-act in the out-of-the-body state. This, shall I say, is very "un-angel-like"! In cases 114 and 89 we have a male suffering sperm loss and temporary damage. Not exactly "angel-like".

4. In cases 89, 96, and 50 we have the entity existing and performing tasks in our three dimensions. This makes you wonder how much of this could be going on. These ones clearly identified themselves, but what about all those others who seem just like us, and in what positions of power are they?

5. Their image is definitely helped in the cases where the entity had "wings" and claimed to be an angel, "but not like we have been taught."

6. The great skill of the Nordics in deceiving humans, with "screen-memories", "shape-shifting", and what have you, is no help to their "angel" image.

7. In cases 99 and 54 we have specific claims that there are both benevolent and evil groups. Whatever they are, all this is the secret Government's deepest secret. They certainly know immensely more about all this than I, and due to their fear of social chaos they never want you to know the truth.

My abductee #108 Marie, an Afroamerican of partly Choctaw Indian ancestry, living in Louisiana, USA, is probably the most abducted, most "other dimensionally aware" person I have ever met. She says, "because I can see and hear in spirit I am able to contact other worlds 24 hours a day. There are negative beings as well as positive ones that are very busy on Earth. People would be shocked if they knew how they are being influenced by forces they cannot see but that are around them." Recently Marie told me that three Elders (beings of light, white-robed in a magenta-coloured ray) and my own mentor, an Aztec/Nordic named X't'lan, want me to meditate more so that they can give me more information and guidance. I am listening, but knowing the hazards of twisted reality and illusion, I take a "wait-and-see" attitude. I wish the Nordics were really angels but they are NOT.

* I could not use these persons' real names.

ENTITIES IN THE HEADLIGHTS. © BY JORGE MARTÍN, Editor of EVIDENCIA OVNI (Puerto Rico) and FSR Consultant.

[Précis Translation from Spanish by G.C., EVIDENCIA OVNI No. 21 (1999)]

Sr. Miguel Calderón is the owner of an estate near Caguas in the Municipal area of Utuado (west-central part of the Island of Puerto Rico) - and it is to be noted that Arecibo, where the big Radio-Astronomical Observatory is, lies not far to the north of Utuado.

Sr. Calderón states that, one night in May or June of 1997, at about 8.30 - 9.00 p.m. he was driving his 1990 Suzuki jeep along the road from Mameyes in Utuado Municipal Area towards Caonillas when suddenly, at a distance of about 100 or 150 ft. ahead of him, he saw "two little boys" dressed in silver-coloured overalls, tight-fitting one-piece suits with turtle necks. They wore no helmets, and had very pale greyish-yellow skin and big black "Chinesey" eyes showing no pupils. The entities halted, and one of them raised an arm towards him. Instantly his engine cut out and his lights dimmed. His starter would not operate, his battery seemed dead. His radio had been playing, and that too was dead. His lights remained on, very faint.

Then the entity suddenly lowered its arm and both of them totally silently shot straight up into the air and vanished into the night. His engine sprang into life again and, scared to death, he drove off at top speed.

And then came the reaction. First he began to weep violently, and then to vomit, and he was obliged to pull up for a while. He said that at no time had he glimpsed any craft or heard one.

As is reported in so many cases, Sr. Calderón said that throughout the experience he felt it totally impossible to take his eyes off the two beings, and something seemed to be telling him the whole time "Look at us! Look at us! Look at us!"

Jorge Martín asked him about their hands. He said that the hand held aloft by the one entity "looked like the gloves we use to handle hot things, with just the thumb separated and the remaining fingers all together as a whole. The gloves, also silvery, looked like part of the uniform itself."

Calderón said he had lived for 22 years in the Utuado area and that residents of the region were constantly talking about incidents and episodes of this sort and at night were constantly seeing lights moving about in the sky, making sharp right-angle turns, and so on.

(For the identical description of two entities seen together, see also the case of the man who saw the "two little kids", out on the Tiburónes Marsh, close to the Arecibo Radio-astronomical Observatory. UFOS OVER THE BRAZILIAN STATE OF BAHÍA (1998). © BY ALBERTO ROMERO, Bahía State Correspondent of Brazilian UFO Review.

[Précis translation from Portuguese by G.C., UFO Review No., 59, June 1998, Brazil.]

Early in January 1998, at a place called Barreiras de Jacuruna in this State, a man (N - N - , unwilling to reveal his name) was lying in bed, but fully awake, when he suddenly became totally unable to open his eyes or to move, and felt the presence of "somebody" in the room. Then came the sensation that "something" was touching his head, and he felt what seemed to be a needle entering the rear part of his cranium, just behind one ear. Then slowly he felt the instruments following a precise trajectory inside his head and descending until it reached the dental arch. Throughout all of which, Sr. N - N - had not felt the slightest sensation of pain.

Then, shortly afterwards, he felt the needle being withdrawn, until it was right out. Then, instantly, he was able to open his eyes and move his body again.

At the time when this occurred, Sr. N - N - was living in the house of his brother-in-law Sr. V - S - (also unwilling to have his name divulged). And, two nights later, glancing out of a window, N - N - saw a grey figure which was walking away past the house and which was watching him as it went.

And, on the following night after that, Senhora M - S, the wife of Sr. V - S -, was sitting on her bed attending to her two-month-old baby, when she too felt the presence of "someone" behind her. At first she assumed that it was of course her husband - until, to her horror, she perceived two long whitish hands extended towards the infant!

Terrified, she shouted for her husband, who came at once. And then both of them saw something like a "faint, indistinct, light-coloured stain" moving away towards the door!

But this particular lady has been having "experiences" and phenomena in her house for years past! And it is very important that we do not fail to record one particularly striking event!

She was pregnant at the time, with her first baby. And she saw what seemed to be a "beam of light" enter the house between the tiles of the roof and descend towards her. She then watched it run slowly over every part of her body, pausing for a few instants right above her lower abdomen. *

And this lady also remembers "dreams" in which she seemed to have seen herself as a passenger aboard a helicopter which then proceeded to dive into the sea.

And, curiously enough - a nephew of this same lady has had an absolutely identical dream...

In other dreams that Sra. M - S - recalls, she says she has been taken to unknown places, one of them being a sort of hospital operating theatre, with dozens of people undergoing examinations. Some of the people, she recalls, were having sex-change operations - "for the sake of increased harmony", as it was explained to her!

We have not managed to proceed further with the investigation of this lady, M - S - , as we have been totally unable to persuade her to accept to be hypnotized.

But that is not the end of the stories at Jacuruna. For, between 22.00 hrs and 22.30 hrs. during the night of February 18, 1998, there were three reports of "lights" flying over the town.

One of the eyewitnesses, Sr. Renato dos Santos, says he saw, in a break in the overcast sky, five long cigar-shaped craft as big as commercial air-liners. When behind the clouds these "cigars" shone through them, "strangely luminous".

NOTE BY EDITOR, FSR.

* Many years ago, long before I became FSR Editor (which began with Volume 28, No. 2 - November 1982), I received an astonishing lot of material from a man whose name I no longer recall but who, I think, was living in East Anglia (East and North-East of London). He was not a regular FSR reader, but was evidently someone who was extremely aware of the UFO Phenomenon, and who regarded it as utterly diabolical. So far as I recall, he was connected with a British Protestant Mission or Group who had representatives in the region of the Amazon River and the Great Amazonian Forest.

To my great regret now, I did not succeed in getting his material into the FSR, and I must admit that I was inclined at the time to share Charles Bowen's view that the man's story was a bit "O.T.T.", "over-the-top". Quite a lot of things since then have begun to make me wonder whether we were wrong.

Basically the material sent to me by the representative of the Christian Missionary Group consisted of a lot of reports that, all over Amazonia, the population were cowering inside their homes, never daring to go forth at night, and that, even so, the UFO lights in the sky were everywhere, and in particular, were shooting down their beams, through the roofs of the flimsily built houses, and pursuing and attacking the womenfolk. Furthermore, so the reports said, women were being impregnated in this fashion!

Those who know our National Gallery well will recall that we have several famous paintings of the Italian School depicting the Blessed Virgin receiving the Annunciation, and the Angel there with her, directing a beam of light straight towards her womb.

What an Angel can do maybe a Devil will also try to do?

As the years have passed, I must admit that I have been thinking frequently about those reports from Brazil, and about the theme of "abnormal" or "miraculous" fecundation. We hear so often nowadays about women who claim to have been "impregnated by Aliens". All this is going to require "a lot of thinking about", as they say.

Incidentally, I can confirm that in the hotter parts of Brazil it is quite normal to build houses - even large wooden or brick houses - without any ceilings, for the sake of cooler nights and better ventilation. You just look up, and you can see the tiles laid upon the wooden structure of the roof.

(Incidentally, this arrangement is enormously helpful for burglars! In the part of Brazil where I was stationed, the robbers used to simply strip off a few tiles and jump down into the house. I recall one occasion, in the North-Eastern State of Pernambuco, when a European resident - I think he was a Frenchman - heard suspicious noises one night on his roof. Therefore, in order to scare off the malefactors, he did what many folk used to do. He simply put his arm out through a window and fired his revolver into the air, whereupon a corpse came down out of an adjacent tree. (All the chap had to do was of course to drag the corpse away and deposit it on the road.... No questions ever asked.) I never heard of a country where it is more easy to get yourself murdered than Brazil. Here in Britain we have still quite a way to go before we reach that level. But that Great Power which rules this world is intent on stepping up all forms of violence and strife, and if it has its way we shall all soon be suing each other in the courts and beating each other to death in "road rage" cases and - now - even "aircraft rage" cases.

With the recent signs that our laws are being applied more and more in favour of the criminals, we shall soon be totally unable either to defend ourselves or even to correct a troublesome child. It will indeed be in the MILLENIUM. (THAT IS TO SAY, IT WILL BE THE MILLENIUM FOR THAT GREAT CONTROLLING POWER OF WHOM THE NAZARENE TEACHER USED TO SPEAK).

On the particular question of the UFO infestations of the towns and rivers and forest of Amazonia, the most important publication that we have seen yet is by a Brazilian doctor, Dr. Daniel Rebisso Giese, published in Belém-Pará, Brazil, in 1991. So far as we know, no translation of this book (Vampiros Extraterrestres Na Amazonia, Extraterrestrial Vampires in Amazonia)into any foreign language yet exists, which is a very great pity, for it is an exceptional work.

I myself started to translate it, and I gave two instalments of it in FSR 39/3 (1994) and FSR 41/2 (1996), but owing to the size of the job that I already have, it has so far been impossible for me to produce any more translations from it. Bob Pratt, the US.S. researcher, who has an absolutely first-class and expert knowledge of the Brazilian UFO scene, asked me some time ago whether I could not do some more on the book, and I do assuredly hope to manage this soon.■

UFO WITH "COILS" ATTEMPTS ABDUCTION IN BRAZIL. © BY JORGE LUCIO DE MACÊDO, Correspondent of Brazilian Magazine, UFO in State of Rio Grande Do Norte.

[Précis from Portuguese by G.C., UFO No. 59, June 1998, Brazil.]

On October 1, 1996, in Rio Grande Do Norte (N.E. Brazil) two farm-workers, Silvino Augusto Medeiros, aged 71, and Bianor Alves dos Santos, aged 49, had a traumatic experience.

At about 17.30 hrs on the 1st October, when just back from the fields, the two were at Silvino's farm, when they heard a weird "hissing" sound and suddenly a craft (they seemed to think it "hexagonal" in shape) appeared overhead, coming from the east, and rotating cables came down upon the head and shoulders of the younger man, Bianor. Like tentacles *, these "cables", black in colour, began to wrap themselves around his head and shoulders and his entire body felt a sensation of intense cold and seemed to be "lighter". He felt the ground slipping away from beneath him and he was going up, but he managed to shake himself free and escape with Silvino into the farmhouse near by.

Neither of the men got a good view of the UFO, but it remained around for a half an hour or more, for they heard its continued hiss.

Then, at about 19.30 hours, Silvino slipped out of the house briefly to see to a tap that he had left running. There was at first no sign of the UFO, but almost at once the hissing noise was back and it remained around a long time. When Silvino's son, Silvino junior, came home, he asked if anybody had heard it. He had heard it from 4 kms away.

They searched the surroundings next day but found no signs of any UFO landing near the farm,

Our research group learned of the case on October 7, and I went there to investigate and questioned both men who are held in high regard locally. My conclusion is that the case is completely authentic.

The day following the affair, Bianor had felt weak and powerless, aching in all joints and limbs, and nauseated.

* Compare the somewhat similar case in Scotland (Livingstone?) where the UFO seems to have tried to capture the man with "grappling irons". -Editor.■

QUANTUM ENTANGLEMENT AND SIMULTANEITY.
BY PHILIP CREIGHTON.

I think it was J.B.S. Haldane who once observed: "The only thing we can be certain about the future is that there is going to be more and more of it." What sets me in mind of his profound remark is the awareness, for me personally, that I am living in a most extraordinary epoch of human history, fraught with discovery, technological creativity, but also with disturbance and change.

With it comes the prospect of yet another wave of true Renaissance, enlightenment, and the burgeoning of a godlike, yet human, powerfulness which can either transport us into a true Golden Age of human spiritual as well as secular growth, or plunge us into the worst nightmare of depravity and destruction if our social and moral conscience and self-knowledge is not able to match the pace and accomplishments of science and technology.

Forgive me for the dramatic preamble, but it is appropriate, for Act I of the 21st century is already unfolding before our very eyes, and a very remarkable play it promises to be...

For most of the last century it has been believed that the speed of light, and other electromagnetic radiations, is absolute and insurpassable.

Accompanying this belief, amounting almost to a dogma, has come the growth of quantum physics, which reveals the natural world to possess some very quirky properties indeed. Particles and waves become interchangeable, and the concept of locality becomes not absolute but probabilistic.

Just "where" is an electron, or any other particle? A very good question. It appears to be everywhere, according to a distributed probability function -that is, until you "look" at it...

Another of the extraordinary properties of particles, as viewed from the point of view of quantum physics, is that their state appears to be a genuine superimposition, of alternative, definite, states, a sort of indeterminate hybrid, -until an observation of them is made; and observation is not passive; it involves interaction.

Let us now come to the nub of the present discussion: The consequences of the foregoing when applied to two or more particles interacting or being created together in a single process, as a result of which they have correlated properties which are nevertheless indeterminate until an observation is made. Such experiments are generally referred to as EPR experiments, thanks to those who originally conceived them, namely Einstein, Podolsky and Rosen.

Let us take a definite example: Two photons are generated simultaneously and move away from each other in opposite directions. Because they were created together their properties are the same or different; in this case they have complementary or opposite polarisations. (This is the angle at which an electromagnetic wave vibrates.)

Two particles related in this way are said to be entangled; however, despite this relationship they are also in a indefinite or fuzzy state of superimposition until they are measured or observed.

When one is observed and found to have a given polarisation, say 0°, observation of the other reveals that it has the comlementary polarisation of 90°. It appears that the information of the state of one photon is transmitted instantaneously across space to determine the fate of the other. But the actual value of the state is in fact completely random, and so it is not possible to use it to send any information, and so this is not usable as a method of faster-than-light communication.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that the two photons, even though they may be widely separated, behave as a unified system, connected in a way which has been described a "spooky". Their state of entanglement means that they partake of the same wave function, or probability function, and interacting with, or observing, one particle amounts to observing both -and they do indeed mirror each other's properties.

Recently two groups of researchers have undertaken long-distance experiments in which such entangled photon pairs are sent up to 10 km down separate fibre-optic cables and detected separately. The two sets of results are then compared,and indeed found to be complementary. However, the researchers have to communicate with each other in some independent way to verify this, for the results are in themselves random, and so faster-than light communication does not seem feasible by this method.

One group, Nicolas Gisin and colleagues, is based at the University of Geneva in Switzerland. Descriptions of their experiments can be found at http://www.euroquantum.org/ Another group, led by Peter Zoller at the University of Innsbruck, has perfomed similar experiments, described at http://www.aip.org/physnews/graphics/html/teleport.htm and http://www.quantum.univie.ac.at/

It is strangely ironic that, within weeks of these experiments, yet other scientists have managed to slow light down to a speed of about 38 miles per hour. This is done with the help of a remarkable assemblage called an Einstein-Bose condensate. What it is is a group of atoms, typically an alkali metal, cooled to almost absolute zero so that all thermal motion ceases. The group of atoms behaves as if it has coalesced and is described by a single wave-function. For light it acts like a kind of molasses, slowing it down from 186,000 miles per second to 38 miles per hour! See http://research.spinweb.com/news/articles/ for more.■

A TRIANGULAR UFO CAPTURED ON CCTV (1998). © BY CHRIS ROLFE, Director of UFOMEK (UFO MONITORS, EAST KENT).

THE FILM.

On July 20, 1998, I received a 'phone call from a Mr. Fred Pike, who asked whether I would be interested in seeing some film footage showing a Flying Triangle UFO, I said yes, I would like to see it.

He explained to me that he was employed as a security officer using CCTV (closed circuit television) in his local town in the northern part of the County of Kent, and that he had managed to capture this UFO flying very low over the area. I felt that the story "sounded too good to be true" and must admit I was very sceptical, and would need to see the proof of it. Mr. Pike said he would send me some still photographs from the footage and would also try to send me a copy of the video film itself.

True to his word, on August 8, 1998, I received from him three photographs that looked very authentic and official and that showed the date time, and the camera number, (and even the name of the town!) My immediate feeling was that this was either a remarkably good hoax employing computer technology or it was something truly serious - "the real thing". So I called him and confirmed receipt, and he began to give me the details of the event.

It had been on July 17, 1998, at around 22.20 hours. He was watching the CCTV monitors, which were connected to the various cameras placed at strategic locations around the local industrial estate. Suddenly a call came in from one of the other Security Officers, about a fight which was taking place between some young men in a drunken state outside one of the factory units. This Security Officer asked Mr. Pike if he could get the incident on camera and also call the Police, as the situation was getting pretty violent. As Fred panned the camera around to the location of the fight, he saw something on the monitor that made him do a double-take and turn the camera back around. He could not believe his eyes, for there, in the western sky, was an object that looked like "a classic flying saucer". He watched the black-coloured object as it moved slowly over the town, and as it did so, it did something for which he was totally unprepared - it started to change shape! It took on the form of a so-called "Flying Triangle".

Its movement across the sky was, as stated, slow, and no lights were visible on it. On the CCTV footage it just appears as a black triangle. He managed to secure about 2 minutes and 36 seconds of footage, in which you can see clearly that the object is very low as it flies over the town. It appears to be following along above the River Thames, (and the only adjacent features which could have been of any strategic importance would have been the Tilbury Power Station and an Army firing-range on the nearby Eastcourt Marshes.)

To say that the object was "big" is an understatement - the thing was either closer to the camera than it appeared to be, or it was at least some distance away - possibly a quarter of a mile away. Its height is a little more difficult to estimate, But it could possibly be at less than 1,000ft.

The film footage received its first public showing at our UFO KENT '98 Conference on October 3, when the audience were stunned into silence. So far as we knew, nothing like this had ever before been filmed with CCTV equipment - something which we of UFOMEK feel would be very difficult to hoax!

ENQUIRIES BEGIN.

Somewhere between October 3 - the date of our Conference - and October 11, 1998, UFOMEK were contacted by UNION PICTURES, who were planning to make a three-part documentary on UFOs and had heard about this footage and were interested in seeing a copy of it with a view to using it in their programme. We contacted Fred Pike, and he agreed, and, as he had the only master-copy and would under no circumstances let it out of his sight, he personally took it to the Union Pictures studios in London. This was on October 16.

AIR TRAFFIC CONFIRM - "NO TRAFFIC".

In the meantime, in July, only a few days after the sighting, Fred had decided to contact LONDON AIR TRAFFIC to learn if anyone else had also sighted this UFO. They told him that they had received no reports for that night over the County of Kent, but advised him to telephone to A.I.S. (the Aeronautical Information Section.) This is a branch of LONDON AIR TRAFFIC which is run by the Military, and all reports from the public to the Police end up there before going to the M.O.D. (Minisry of Defence). Even military pilots who have a near-miss, be it with another aircraft or with a UFO, must report the incident (I believe by telephone) to A.I.S. within 24 hours.

Fred Pike duly telephoned to A.I.S., and spoke with a woman who asked him if he wanted to report a UFO sighting. He replied: "No, I would like you to confirm one on that date and time." She replied: "Not at that particular time... NO, Not at all!". By this time the woman was becoming very flustered, and she put the 'phone down on him. She had obviously been "caught out" by him in some way, and it seems that possibly A.I.S. knew more about the matter than they were willing to say!

MINISTRY OF DEFENCE AGREE.

With this in mind, I suggested to Fred that he should now make a complaint to the Ministry of Defence's LOW FLYING COMPLAINTS DEPARTMENT. This he did, by telephone, during the second week in August, and the following week he received a reply, dated August 18, signed by a Mr. P.A. Gould, who said: "I can confirm that no military aircraft was authorized to operate in your area at the time stated. Furthermore, due to the dense population of London and the area around, military jets would need special permission to fly in your area and this is usually only given during flypasts. In the circumstances, we believe it is likely that the aircraft you saw was either a military one at above 2,000 ft. or, more likely, was a civil aircraft, possibly from Biggin Hill".

There are two points to be noted with regard to what Mr. Gould says. Firstly, if the so-called object was a military jet flying at 2,000 ft., then it will have been the biggest aircraft I have ever seen! I would love to see the hangar for it, - let alone the runway that it would have to use when landing. (Unless of course it was indeed military, and something of a totally new type and construction).

Secondly, in no way could it have been a civil aircraft from Biggin Hill, as we understand that that airport closes down for the night — at the very latest at 20.00 hrs.— during the summer months.

[Of course the Ministry of Defence would have known nothing yet about the CCTV footage? (BUT I'LL BET THEY DID! - EDITOR FSR)]

UNION PICTURES "ARE INTERESTED".

On October 22, 1998, UNION PICTURES telephoned to me to say that they were definitely impressed by the footage, and would like to use it in their three-part programme to be called "RIDDLE OF THE SKIES". Later that same day the producer of the programme, John Purdie, telephoned to confirm that they were definitely going to use it and offering the sum of £1,000, to which I agreed provisionally. Initially the aim of UFOMEK had been not to make money out of the footage, but when you consider that these TV companies are making thousands from selling their programmes it is not unreasonable for researchers to want a little slice of the apple pie when you consider also that none of the UFO groups or researchers in this country receive any funds whatsoever except from their members, so that all expenses come out of their own pockets. Reporting-forms have to be printed; witnesses have to be interviewed; and there are postage, and 'phone calls, not to mention travelling-expenses. It all mounts up over the years, and in the five years that UFOMEK has been running I dread to think how much money has been spent.

UNION PICTURES "NOT INTERESTED".

Then - all of a sudden - UNION PICTURES "pulled the plug"! They no longer wanted to use the footage, coming out with all sorts of excuses. We heard: "It's not quite what they had been looking for", or "they think the object was a cloud, or was a piece of tarpaulin flapping around in the wind"!

When I told this to Aviation photographer Bill Rose, he laughed his socks off, and, whilst not being himself a "believer in UFOs", he felt that this footage was quite impressive, and he said that he did not understand quite what the UNION PICTURES producer Mr. Purdie was playing at.

FARNBOROUGH CONSULTED.

However, after speaking with other people who have had dealings with Mr. Purdie, we find that they tell a very different story regarding the way in which he had been handling the research for the programme. To say that we feel he has been "got at" is perhaps more true than at first we had realized, for in the third part of the programme UNION PICTURES use some footage that David Spoor from Norfolk had obtained and they had first taken it down to Farnborough, to the D.E.R.A. (Defence Evaluation and Research Establishment) there, "for an opinion". So could it not be that Mr. Purdie had also taken our CCTV footage down to Farnborough, whereupon they might no doubt have taken one look at it and then told him in no uncertain terms that he was not to use it?

UNION PICTURES REFUSE TO ANSWER.

At the close of the third part of the programme it was announced that Mr. Purdie would be on the Internet to answer any questions that viewers might have about the programme. Herry Anderson, at that time the Co-Ordinator for UFOMEK, therefore put a question, among others, about any D.E.R.A. response concerning our CCTV footage and wanted to know whether that was the real reason for UNION PICTURES not wanting to use it? MR. PURDIE TOTALLY REFUSED TO ANSWER ANY OF JERRY ANDERSON'S QUESTIONS. WHY? -HAD WE GUESSED THE TRUTH?

So far, the only television broadcasters to have had guts enough to show the footage have been LIVE TV, in their "WHY FILES" programme.

We waited to see whether perhaps "LONDON WEEKEND" might have the courage to use it in an hour-long documentary which they said was to have been broadcast at the end of 1999. So far that programme has not appeared.

HOW THE BRITISH MEDIA ARE INSTRUCTED TO TREAT CROP-CIRCLES. BY GORDON CREIGHT0N.

As we all can see, the British newspapers and the Radio and TV media received their instructions long ago as to how they should treat the embarrassing phenomenon of the Crop-Circles. They were told to show them as exclusively the work of hoaxers, like the two old-age pensioners "Doug 'n Dave" - "les pappys farceurs" as our French colleagues term them so delightfully - who, with the aid of a few fellow-workers, are now credited with the production of the entire massive world-wide phenomenon, as we have seen it, not only here in Britain, but also in the USA, Canada, Australia, Russia, Japan, Germany, Spain, and some other countries. (By the way, has anyone yet heard of crop-circle reports from New Zealand, St. Helena, Mauritius, Easter Island, and other remoter spots?).

Every year of course we get a few fine dismissive pieces of writing in our British press and a few debunking programmes via the TV and the Radio, but these seem to pass rapidly and are soon forgotten. As for the public and the rest of us, we too are expected simply to toe the line and forget rapidly...

Of the finest and most ludicrous examples that I have seen recently in the British press I strongly recommend a superb piece of nonsense babble from the Daily Telegraph's Scientific Correspondent Matt Ridley:-

Daily Telegraph, May 24, 1999.
PRANKSTERS RUN RINGS AROUND THE GULLIBLE: MATT RIDLEY'S ACID TEST.

"Laurance Rockefeller, an American billionaire who is also a UFO nut, has been persuaded to part with some of his billions to 'carry out aerial research' into crop circles in south-west England. Is there no end to the gullibility of the wealthy?

"I made my first crop circles in 1991. My motive was to prove how easy they were to make, because I was convinced that crop circles were all man-made. It was the only explanation nobody seemed interested in testing.

"Late one August night, with one accomplice - my brother-in-law from Texas - I stepped into a field of nearly ripe wheat in northern England, anchored a rope into the ground with a spike, and began walking in a circle with the rope held near the ground. It did not work very well, the rope rode up over the wheat. But with a bit of help from our feet to hold down the rope, we soon had a respectable circle of flattened wheat.

"Two days later, there was an excited call from the farmer. I had fooled my first victim. I subsequently made two more crop circles using much superior techniques. A light garden-roller, designed to be filled with water, proved helpful. Eventually, I hit on the technique used by the original circle-makers - plank-walking, or pushing down the crop with a plank suspended from two ropes. To make the depression circular is a simple matter of keeping an anchored rope taut.

"Getting into the crop without leaving traces is a lot easier than is usually claimed. In dry weather, and stepping carefully, you can leave no footprints or tracks at all. There are other ways of getting into the crop even more stealthily. One group of circle-makers use two tall bar stools and jump from one to another. I soon found I could make a sophisticated pattern with very neat edges and no tracks in less than an hour.

........."I soon met other crop-circle makers, though I was never lucky enough to encounter the two who started it, Doug Bower and Dave Chorley. People such as Robin Allen of Southampton University and Jim Schnabel, * author of Round In Circles, also found it all too easy to fool the self-appointed experts, but all too hard to dent the gullibility of reporters. When Bower and Chorley confessed, they were denounced on television as frauds. My own newspaper articles were dismissed as "government disinformation" and it was hinted that I was in M15, which was flattering (and untrue)."

NOTE BY EDITOR OF FSR.

* I am delighted to see this mention of Mr. Jim Schnabel, an American citizen who has long been known for his services on behalf of the US Government's debunking programme on UFOs. There are one or two exceedingly interesting things to be related about him, and we will see to it that this is done in a future article.

In German slang the word SCHNABEL ("beak") is often used to indicate "SNOUT" and when Mr. Schnabel came to Britain and set about studying (as instructed) not so much the British crop-circles as the crop-circle investigators, the snout was used effectively for turning up plenty of "dirt on people" and his ears were busily gathering up the sort of stuff required. (Those who are familiar with the farming life will know that, used efficiently, the snout of a hog can be as good as any plough).

AND WHAT ABOUT THE COMPENSATIONS?

After all these years, and after all these "faked crop circles" in so many countries of the world, and after the frightful messes and crop-losses perpetrated in so many fields, I am most disappointed to have to record that I have yet to hear of one single case anywhere in which any farmer or any owner of the terrain was reported to have claimed, or to have received, any monetary of other compensation from any source (Government or hoaxers).

Maybe FSR's readers can help me out by indicating such cases?

HAVE ANY OF YOU EVER HEARD OF ANY SUCH CASE IN ANY COUNTRY? IF SO, PLEASE LET US KNOW!

As this age of alleged civilisation hurtles to its termination, the general miasm of greed and interest in money, profit, gain, materieal wealth, becomes ever more obsessive and more persuasive - so far as one can ascertain - than it has ever been in any known past period of human history. It was from the USA, so often called the "Land of the Almighty Dollar", that one began to hear, a few years ago, awful tales. It was alleged that, if you were so unlucky as to get run over by a bus there, the folk at the nearest hospital might be inclined to want to take a peep inside your wallet before taking you in.

I am not suggesting that matters are any better here in Britain, because we are already seeing the rapid spread of it all here, along with the astounding new habit of suing each other and taking each other to court, at the drop of a hat. And all that certainly did start a good many years ago in America. It was there, in the years after WWII, that we begain to hear of people banging on the whole time about "asserting oneself" and "claiming one's rights" (but never about their "obligations to society"). This disease has now spread to Britain, along with various other tendencies such as the appearance of more and more murderous children particularly in Scotland, well equipped with knives. At the same time, the arrival in Britain of the lottery habit and the proliferation of TV and radio "quiz" programmes with large prizes - all this has vastly inflamed the general climate of greed here.

Meanwhile, on the agricultural scene, our farmers are in an unparalleled state of collapse. Today the level of suicide among the British farmers is higher than it is in any other class of society in our country. Surely, then, these poor fellows would desperately clutch at any possible source of compensation if they found themselves so unlucky as to have crop-circles on their fields! Why then is it that we never hear of a case of such a claim by a farmer or of such a claim being met by compensation from any source?

If anybody knows of such a case, will they please report it to us! (See also our book review in FSR 45/1) -Ed.

ADDENDUM: MAGNETIC PARTICLES FOUND ON CROP-CIRCLES.

From the MUFON UFO JOURNAL for January 2000 we learn that two of their field investigators, Joanne Scarpellini and Gary P. Hart of Missouri, examined a small crop circle (9ft. diameter) on a large farm in Southern Missouri. Date of the circle July 1999.

As is known, crop circles are frequently found to yield magnetic particles, usually between micron size (about 50 microns) up to as much as 1 mm. However in the case of this Missouri farm, while some of the particles were only of micron sizes, most of them were very large - being of as much as 2 mm.

The particles recovered there were described as "irregularly shaped, rounded globules that appear rusty to the naked eye. Under magnification with a microscope they appear very much like slag, as would be found in the spray from a dirty cut made by an acetylene torch. Magnified, the particles are, as stated, rusty, somewhat glazed, with the glazed areas being dark brown to black. They are quite smooth and appear to have melted and then cooled as a heavy spray. The surface of the entire circle was estimated to carry 53.1 gm. (1.87 oz) of the magnetic particles while the embedded amount of the particles is estimated at 213.36 gm. (7.48 oz), with the total of the surface and the embedded material amounting to an astounding 265 gm (over 9 oz).

A control sample taken at a distance of 1,000 ft from the crop circle did not yield any magnetic particles at all."■

THE "MYSTERY WHINE" THAT ONLY WOMEN CAN HEAR! BY GORDON CREIGHTON.

Many, many times in the 45 years of FSR's existence, we have carried press reports, from various regions of England (I recall none from Scotland or Wales or Ulster) about baffling and curious "humming" or "buzzing" noises for which no reason can ever be found.

Quite frequently, it seems, that such a hum may plague the life out of the occupants of just one single terrraced house and yet never be heard by anyone in any of the neighbouring houses on either side. We recounted in FSR that one poor man, an English author named Edward Hyams, was reported by the British newspapers to be at his wits' end plagued by the hum at his home in Kent (S.E. England) and was consequently planning to move to another part of the country. (Whether that helped, we never heard).

No explanation for any of these mysterious noises has ever been forthcoming and consequently many folk have concluded that the cause can only be either secret operations of our Government or the activities of aliens or alien UFOs.

It has been some years since we last noted press accounts about such humming noises, but there was a particularly curious one reported in the Daily Express on December 31 1998.

This was described by the paper as "the mystery whine that only women can hear". It is a high-pitched sound, and the paper said a dozen separate cases of it had been logged by environmental health officers in Warrington, Cheshire (N.W. England) during the latter months of 1998.

In every case, women had complained about the mysterious droning which kept them awake, while the men living in the same houses said they never could hear a thing.

Officials from the local council's noise-abatement department had investigated, totally without success in locating the source of such a noise.

Anne Heeson, aged 55, told the newspaper that the noise had become so bad that she was now planning to move house. She described it as "a high-pitched, pulsating, humming sound, and it turns me into a nervous wreck".

She continued: "The noise-abatement officer drove me around the area to try to isolate the sound. We stopped outside one building - a water-treatment works. I can actually hear three noises, but only one of them is really annoying. The noise-abatement officer thought the sound could be from one of the generators.

"It's been going on for 18 months now, and it has had such an effect on my life that I'm going to move house. It is very bad in our front bedroom, but my husband can't hear it at all."

Eleven other women living within a two-mile radius had lodged similar complaints, all of which were being investigated by the Council's Chief Environmental Health Officer, Andrew Gilbert. Mr. Gilbert admitted to the journalist that the experts were worried by the noise, but he said he also wondered whether the problem was not perhaps principally due to the fact that the women tended to spend more time in their homes than their men did?

Mr. Gilbert said: "It seems strange that all the complaints came from women, but women's sensitivities do differ from those of men. Women tend to be annoyed by certain noises, and a lot of it is to do with the psychology of noise and stress. If women spend more time at home they will be more irritated by noise intrusion. It is certainly my experience that we receive more complaints from women about low-frequency noises."

(Mr. Gilbert conceded that he had ruled out the possibility that the noise could be emanating from the women's husbands!)

The report stated, in conclusion, that the women had been given diaries so that they could record the whine when they heard it, and have also had tape-recorders placed in their homes. So far it had been revealed that the noise is stronger in their bedrooms than anywhere else, and is more common on cold, frosty nights.

Mr. Gilbert said: "The women are definitely hearing something - whether it is actual or perceived, and we have to apply objective analysis to find out where it is coming from. We have not closed the file yet".

NOTE BY EDITOR.

We have heard no more about this case and seen no more reports. Perhaps our readers in Cheshire can tell us whether there have been any further developments.

ADDENDUM.

A new report just in from the USA about the famous "Taos Hum" is interesting, (See the Taos News, Taos, New Mexico of January 6, 2000).

A survey by Dr. James Kelly of the University of New Mexico's Health and Sciences Department established that 2% of the people in Taos County could hear it. The hum had first become famous when a photographer named Bob Saltzman and his wife were so annoyed by it that they moved away to Southern California. (But in Northern California, a young woman at Willits next claimed that she has been hearing precisely the same hum all day, every day for the past four months).

The Taos people who hear it describe it as "a pulsing sound sometimes like a church organ and sometimes like a diesel engine."

Sara Allen, who is herself an engineer for KTAO, even swears that she hears it day and night everywhere she goes, from New Jersey to Florida, and has been hearing it since 1992. She says: "It's not an acoustical sound or a physical force that can be measured, It's in the quantum realm!"

In their report on the Taos hum, the scientists from the University of New Mexico say "an intensive set of measurements, including acoustic, seismic, electromagnetic, electrostatic, and magnetic, all failed to turn up anything that correlated with the sound being perceived by the hearers. But the sound (real) was easily recorded by the very sensitive microphones that we were using."

On October 13, 1999, two separate groups of campers at the Great Sand Dunes National Monument in Southern Colorado heard a deep humming sound "which was coming from the ground and so loud that it vibrated signs in the camping-ground and freaked us out."■

SIX MORE PLANETS FOUND OUTSIDE OUR SOLAR SYSTEM. BY GORDON CREIGHTON.

According to a report in the Astrophysical Journal (Jan. or Feb. 2000), at the University of California (Santa Cruz) four astronomers, Geoffrey Marcy, Paul Butler, Kerry Apps, and Steven Vogt, have found six more planets outside our own solar system, but orbiting around "relatively near-by stars".

This brings up to 28 (but one report says 33) the total number of such planets found outside our own solar system.

Steven Vogt says: "These new planets are orbiting around stars that in size, age, and brightness, are similar to our own Sun, and are at distances from us ranging from 65 light-years to 192 light-years. And the masses of the six new planets range from slightly smaller than Jupiter to several times the size of Jupiter.

They are probably similar to Jupiter in their composition -basically gigantic balls of two gases, hydrogen and helium."

Like most of the other planets discovered so far, the six new planets were found by means of Doppler Spectroscopy, which detects the evidence for a "wobble" in the parent star's movement due to the gravitational force or pull exercised by the orbiting planet

The orbits of the six new planets tend to be quite eccentric, following trajectories which are rather more oval than circular.

one of the six new planets, orbiting around a star listed as HD222582, has the most eccentric orbit known so far.

It seems that circular orbits of the type we see in our solar sytem are relatively scarce.

But five of the six newly-found planets are located in the so-called "habitable zones" of their parent stars -i.e. in the regions that are sufficiently distant from the star to permit the right sort of temperature on the planet -not too cold, and not too hot for water in liquid state to exist there.

The majority of the extra-solar planets previously found were in fact outside the habitable zones of their suns. These new ones just found, says Steven Vogt, are at "just the right distances", with a temperature which -in one case- is of about 108° Fahrenheit, similar to what would be felt on a hot day in Sacramento, California, or in Arizona.

And Steven Vogt continues: "As these Jupiter-sized planets are similar to the ones of that size in our own Solar System, then they will probably have numerous moons around them. Such moons offer the possibility of water in liquid state, and finally, the possibility of the eventual emergence of life on them."

The six new planets were found orbiting the following stars:

1) HD10697, slightly colder and larger than our Sun, is at a distance of 106 light-years from us, in the constellation of Pisces. The planet has a minimal mass of 6.35 times the mass of Jupiter, and an orbit of 1,072 days.

2) HD37124, slightly colder than our Sun, is at 108 light-years from us, in the constellation of Taurus. Its planet has a minimal mass of 1.04 times that of Jupiter, and an orbiting time of 155.7 days.

3) HD134987, slightly colder than our Sun, is at 98 light-years from us, in the constellation of Libra. Its planet has eccentric orbit of 260 days, and a minimal mass of 1.58 times the mass of Jupiter. It is within the "habitable zone" of the parent star.

4) HD177830 is slightly colder than our Sun, and is at 192 light-years, in the constellation of Lyra. Its mass is 1.22 times that of Jupiter, and it has a highly eccentric orbit of 392 days.

5) HD192263 is colder than our Sun and is at 65 light-years from us, in the constellation of Aquila. Its mass is 0.78 that of Jupiter, and it has an almost circular orbit of 24.36 days.

6) HD222582 is a star that is almost similar to our Sun, at a distance from us of 137 light-years, in the constellation of Aquarius. Its planet has a highly eccentric orbit of 576 days.

The discovery of these six new planets was effected by employing the Echelle High-Resolution Spectrograph on the Keck Telescope in Hawaii. G.C.■

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS.

DIMENSIONS OR FREQUENCIES. Nov. 14, 1999

Dear Gordon

When reading, in FSR recently, a reference to an article about the concept of the dense etheric", I recalled that, in one of his lectures, Rudolf Steiner had said something clearly extremely relevant!

I was sufficiently impressed by it at the time to write it down and, although I regret to say I cannot identify the lecture (Steiner gave hundreds), it has always remained in my mind, and I think you would like to see Steiner's remarks:-

"One cannot see the etheric body because, as regards substance, it lies a stage higher than the physical body.

"Still less can one see the astral body, because it lies higher still. But beneath the physical matter there are also substances which cannot be seen.

"Of all matter, only a middle strip or band is perceptible —just that strip which constitutes physical matter, perceptible to the physical eye.

"Just as substance continues upwards as physical foundation for the etheric and astral, so does it continue downwards and again become invisible".

Best wishes!

Thank you Mr. Walker!

I think that without hesitation I can say that this is the most important and perceptive letter ever received at FSR in the 45 years since we started.

Mr. Walker is, of course, a firm follower of Steiner, and he knows what he is talking about.

What a pity it is that so few folk make the slightest attempt to find out what Rudolf Steiner -and so many others- have to teach us!. Editor.

ALIEN MORALITIES. Feb. 7, 2000

Dear Mr. Creighton

Please accept my congratulations for your excellent journal. My impression is that you're right on track. I should venture to guess that many of those who disagree with your interpretations do so because they find them unpleasant rather than unrealistic. I believe you are right to take into consideration all observations from credible witnesses rather than to exclude some just because they are seemingly too absurd or fantastic. "Truth is stranger than fiction" is an expression to be borne in mind in ufology.

We are, presumably, looking at an intelligently-directed phenomenon. This, in itself, would make it extremely complex; in addition, the phenomenon appears to know that it is being observed and may as a result modify its behaviour, making things even more indecipherable.

Regarding the negative behaviour of many of the strange entities reported, I wonder about moral issues. As far as I know, the bottom line of the moral teachings of most of our religions is the happiness and well-being of the human being. Perhaps you know whether any important religion takes into account the interests of other species? The only one that occurs to me is that of the Jains. However, even in this case, I understand that it is not the animal in its own right that is being considered. And the sacred cow, not exactly a moral issue, is sacred only because it helped human beings. Nature, on our physical plane, creates a constant state of conflict between living beings which no doubt contibutes to the process of physical evolution. Other intelligent forms of life might have a high level of "morality". regarding their own species or group; but they might nevertheless justify damaging members of other species to further their own ends. Is it not morally justifiable to sacrifice a few chimpanzees in experiments if the results could save some human lives? What is morally "good" or "bad" would not seem to constitute the absolute values that we should like it to; this depends, rather, on the species making the assessment. The popular belief that "...intelligent beings which are more developed than human beings must be benevolent toward us because if they were bad guys they'd have blown themselves up long ago...." is irrelevant.

The behaviour of our own species toward other less developed species is extremely variable. One might expect to observe a corresponding variability regarding the way we are treated by other species which are more developed than we are. Whether we are encountering veterinarians, or members of the Human Beings Protection Society, or investigating geneticists, may be hard to determine. There does seem to be evidence that we, or some representatives of our species, are participating as involuntary subjects in ongoing experimental work connected with genetics. If people in general are not supposed to know about abductions, then the simplest tactic would be to dispose of the human victims when the job has been completed. Perhaps this happens; many people are reported "missing". However, the fact that human subjects are sometimes subjected to interference and then released is perhaps significant. This kind of procedure is reminiscent of some kinds of biological experiments. The perpetrators surely know that memories of abductions can often be recovered by hypnotic techniques. Three speculative possibilities come to mind: (a) the experimenters desire the information about abductions to be propagated among human beings. The fact that it is recoverable only under hypnosis gives it more credibility; (b) the experimenters have a genuine desire to reduce the psychological trauma in the subject and attempt to avoid his internment in an institution for the mentally sick by making him/her forget the experience; (c) It is necessary for the investigation itself that the subject should have no conscious memory of the interventions.

The book "Mankind - Child of the Stars" by Flindt and Binder (published in English some forty years ago, and which I cannot now locate) expressed some rather interesting possibilities about extraterrestrial intervention in the creation of our species. It seemed to make much sense out of what is said in the Hebrew Pentateuch. Consistent with an important operation concerning a group of beings with a lot of free will are the Lord's firm rules, including some very specific ones for Israel, the selected group. And of course, transgressions used to be punished drastically, there and then.

On a completely different topic, the phenomenon of "crashed UFOs" provokes my curiosity. I suppose, compared with the number of UFOs which seem to violate our airspace quite happily without suffering from accidents, the proportion is small. Even so, the crashed "machines" seem to negate the apparently magical abilities often displayed by the other-world entities. What is most disconcerting is that dead occupants are reported in the crashed machines. One may speculate any of the following: (a) The mission is of an importance high enough to justify the danger to the personnel; (b) the job is expensive, and on a large scale, justifying economy in the UFO production lines at the expense of safety: (c) the eventual death of occupants is not considered of extreme importance (maybe they are "bio-robots or something*; (d) the incidents were being set up as distractions.

I wish you continued success with the Review and I thank you for providing information of such high calibre.

Yours sincerely

NOTE BY EDITOR.

I agree that the bio-robot theory seems highly likely to be right - and for more than one species. So these robots are of course three-dimensional - like us. But we have no proof that whatever made them and sent them was also three-dimensional! It may very likely not have been!

As regards the causes of the crashes at Roswell and elsewhere, we heard, right from very early on, rumours that the saucers had been brought down by our radar!

This theory always struck me as ridiculous and it may indeed be ridiculous. But if one is honest one must now go on to admit that more and more qualified scientific people are beginning to say that this radar story is true!

And note that those crashes, at Roswell, at Aztec, in Northern Mexico, and maybe a few more places, soon came to an end by all accounts. Which could easily be an indication that the Visitors had rectified a "weakness" in their machines.

As for the whole general problem of origins, I still agree totally with Dr. Hynek and others in finding the "E.T. theory" improbable, and the "Multi-Dimensional Theory", or "Other-Dimensional Theory" far more attractive. Clearly we have not yet discovered much about these questions, and maybe we never will know much more, simply because we weren't "programmed" to know more. G.C. ■
